

SUPPORTING YOUNG PEOPLE TO BE #WORLDREADY

Right now, a million 14 - 24-year-olds around the world are stepping outside their comfort zone. They're learning to lead. They're gaining confidence and resilience. They're supporting their communities, getting active and gaining new skills. They're discovering adventure and having fun.

They're participating in The Duke of Edinburgh's International Award.

Through the Award, young people can develop the crucial skills they need to navigate change and build positive habits, now and in the future.

All whilst gaining an internationally recognised accreditation which is valued by employers, educators and governments around the world.

Find out more, visit www.intaward.org today

“You have nothing to lose if you do this Award. It does take time and effort, however, the benefits reaped from those simple sacrifices far outweigh them. It is an opportunity to better yourself and your future.”

Bronze Award participant, Australia

WORLD-CLASS LEARNING, OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

Not all learning happens in the classroom – in fact, some of life’s biggest lessons happen in the least likely locations.

The Award provides a fantastic foundation for a young person to thrive, now and in the future. It can even amplify the learning they experience in the classroom.

By choosing to pursue self-identified areas of interest within the global framework of: Skills, Physical Recreation, Voluntary Service and Adventurous Journey, each young person develops their own unique Award programme.

The Award encourages them to:

- Stay mentally and physically healthy
- Connect with others
- Give back to their communities
- Embrace structure and purpose
- Seek out adventure

And develop positive foundations for the future:

- Essential life skills
- Employability
- Goal setting and planning
- Increased community engagement
- Build resilience and confidence

Find out how a young person can register for the Award, visit www.intaward.org today

#WORLD
READY